Suzette's Peoria artwork on display at Floral Expressions

The next time you're driving on north University Street in Peoria, Illinois, take a look at the window display at Floral Expressions/Harms Florist located at 2415 N. University Street. A variety of my Peoria-related t-shirts, artwork and notecards are at the shop and showcased in the front window display.

According to Dave Cramer, store owner, he's experimenting with giving my Peoria items window exposure in hopes that folks come in and purchase the Peoria merchandise, so plan to stop by and make a purchase today!

Create a notecard

Do you have a favorite expression or quotation you'd like to put on a set of personal notecards? Let me tailor some notecards for you, just as I did on this commissioned job, incorporating the client's all-time favorite expression, "Don't worry about tomorrow. God is already there." Cards are only $1.75 a piece. Contact me at Suzette@SuzetteBoulais.com.

Fogelberg concert set for August 13

The Saturday, August 13 concert scheduled at the Peoria Civic Center to celebrate the 30th Anniversary of Dan Fogelberg's album "The Innocent Age" is fast-approaching. To promote several weekend activities related to the concert, Fogelberg Foundation committee member Eric Mills and I (see right) recently appeared as guests on WMBD TV's Living Well program.

Fogelberg fans planning to attend the concert have been ordering t-shirts and coffee cups that incorporate some of the graphic designs I contributed to the Fogelberg Foundation, including my graphic design of Dan's face, "Innocent Sage." To check out the items available for purchase visit http://zazzle.com/DF\_Memorial\_Weekend\*.
