Since this is the Easter season, you might want to read the poem, "Resurrected Flight" written by my brother Marc on the Course in Miracles section of my site.

The Rally Point is a new meeting facility located on the 4th floor of the Contemporary Art Center along the riverfront in downtown Peoria, Illinois.

A creative and urban industrial setting with hardwood floors, exposed brick and lots of natural lighting, The Rally Point acts as a perfect space to not only hold business meetings and conferences, but to display lots of local contemporary art.

I was lucky enough to have several of my large, abstract paintings selected for display in the new facility.
