

Spring's Awakening notecards highlighted this month

Spring's Awakening

May the first breeze of Spring
Touch your heart and caress your face
With a gentle tease of the beauty of the
Felt, but unseen glance of God's benevolent love.

As the seasons change and you behold
The oneness in Nature's rhythm,
Be thankful as the Spring's tulips, who
Stretch their necks heavenward in praise
And thanks for their short span of glory.

Take time to feel the warmth of
The sun who spreads his blanket of heat
On all with non-judgment and impartiality;
To melt the hearts of those frozen in
The icy grip of self-concern.

As the setting sun appears to rest,
Do the same with your quiver of fears,
Releasing them into the hands of God;
To disburse as meteors in
A blaze of night light mystery.

Pray for God's joy to be a
Gentle rain to soften your soul
To be prepared for the showers
Of His constantly unfolding blessings.
- by Marc R. Boulais 2-12-11

If you go to the HeartART section of my website at www.suzetteboulais.com you'll see these individually hand-painted "Spring's Awakening" notecards are on special for only $1.75 this month. As an option, I can also include this lovely poem to the left, written by my brother Marc, inside the card.

Happy Homes

My paintings can tie in and set off any room in your house or office. Notice how nice my painting, "Let Us Fall" looks on the wall at the home of Celeste and David Shadiow.

Need a logo? Let me do a design for you

If you're looking for a new, updated, or redesigned logo, let me create a design for you.

Here's a recent design I created for my friend Kathy Chitwood for her new business that trains actors who are hoping to build careers that lead them to Broadway.

Kathy's only design requirements for the logo: use the words Journey to Broadway and use a road that leads to a star.

I was extremely happy to accommodate. Here's the logo.

